

Conor A. Durkin

Financial Planner

Conor is a Financial Planner at Clearwater Capital Partners, working to develop comprehensive plans for clients in the context of pursuing their financial goals. He holds a Bachelor of Science degree in Economics from the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign, where he developed a strong foundation in economic theory, quantitative analysis, and data interpretation. During his time at the University of Illinois, Conor was a member of Illinois Business Consulting (IBC), the largest student-run, professionally managed consulting organization in the country. As an IBC member, Conor gained hands-on experience working with clients on business strategy and problem-solving.

After graduating from the University of Illinois, Conor began his career at Deloitte Tax LLP, where he spent four years as part of the Global Transfer Pricing service line. During this time, he worked on various complex projects involving the analysis of multinational companies' pricing strategies, ensuring compliance with international tax regulations, and advising clients on effective tax structures. His responsibilities included conducting economic analysis, preparing detailed reports, and providing recommendations to help clients navigate global transfer pricing challenges. Conor's work at Deloitte allowed him to deepen his expertise in the intersection of economics and international tax.

Conor resides in Lake in the Hills with his wife, Brittany, daughter Charlotte, and their golden retriever. He enjoys outdoor hobbies, such as skiing and fishing, as they help him recharge and maintain a refreshing balance.
